JUDGE MOORE THREATENED. GLEASON APPEARS IN COURT

Policemen.

Anonymous Letters Received by a Justice Cullen Says He Must Prove Brooklyn Judge.

The news came out to-day that for The news came out to-day that for nearly a week past several policemen have been guarding the home of County Jidge Moore, 52 Washington avenue, Brooklyn. During the twenty years that Judge Moore has served upon the bench, he has received many anonymous communications, threatening him with all sorts of personal violence. On Tuesday of last week, Mrs. Moore received a letter, rigned "A Friend, notifying her to warn her husbani to be on his guard and keep out of the way." Several days later Judge Moore active great disuster which would be full be dissolved. Justice fullen said that Gleason would not be full but her week that time and Sunday and the note of the communications. To quiet her fears, the matter would have passed out of his mind, had his wife not become slarmed at the tone of the communications. To quiet her fears, the matter was placed in the hands of the police, and two policemen, in citizen's clothing, were sent to watch the house. Supt. 'ampbell said to-day that the men had been withdrawn, and nothing further would be done.
